hw2&4

I didn't turn in my homework on time, and it was my fault. I didn't manage my time well and missed the deadline. This made me realize that being responsible is very important. From now on, I will finish my homework early to avoid making the same mistake again and to not let my teacher or myself down.

TOEIC Test Simulation

My second TOEIC score shows clear improvement:

- Listening: Increased from 143.6 to 227.7 (up by 84.1 points)
- Reading: Dropped from 227.7 to 207.9 (down by 19.8 points)
 - Total: Increased from 371 to 436 (up by 65 points)

I'm happy that my listening got better—it shows that my effort helped. But my reading went down, so I need to spend more time on vocabulary and reading practice. I will keep working hard to get better in both parts and reach a higher score next time. I believe I can do it if I stay focused and don't give up.

PPT presentation

This was my second time doing a group PPT presentation. Compared to the first time, I feel I improved a lot. I was more confident and better prepared. However, there are still many things I need to work on, like using better vocabulary, expressing my ideas more clearly, and organizing the content more smoothly. I know I can do even better if I keep practicing and learning from each experience.

An aerial photograph of a city street scene. In the foreground, a large, light-colored building with a series of white columns is visible. A red double-decker bus is driving on the street to the right of the building. Other cars and a white van are also on the road. The background shows more city buildings and a body of water under a blue sky with some clouds.

After a full year of the teacher's hard work and guidance, I've learned a lot and grown both in knowledge and confidence. The teacher always patiently explained things and encouraged us to keep trying, even when things were difficult. Because of that, I've made real progress. I'm truly thankful, and I'll keep working hard to not let the teacher's efforts go to waste.

Thank you, teacher and TA
