9. I totally see your point. 我完全明白你的意思。
10. AI is making a lot of decisions for us now, and that can make people feel less involved in their own choices. 人工智慧現在正在為我們做出很多決定，這可能會讓人們感覺自己在選擇上沒有那麼重要。

ChatGPT

At first, social media was a great way to connect with friends and share ideas, but it can also contribute to things like:

- Addiction – People can spend hours scrolling through apps, which can waste time or lead to unhealthy habits.
- Mental Health Issues – Constant comparison to others on platforms like Instagram can cause anxiety, depression, or low self-esteem.
- Privacy Problems – Social media can lead to data breaches, identity theft, or personal information being misused.

So, while tech can be amazing, sometimes it creates problems that can hurt us if we're not careful. Do you think social media has affected you like this?

I think that AI has made our life worse. Everything is decided by AI people don't want to think.

I totally see your point, Ivy. AI is making a lot of decisions for us now, and that can make people feel less involved in their own choices. We rely on algorithms for everything—what to buy, what to watch, even how we interact with others. It can definitely feel like we're losing the ability to think for ourselves.

One problem is that we might start relying too much on AI to solve problems or make decisions, and that could lead to people losing critical thinking skills. Plus, it can make us more passive, like we're just following what the AI suggests rather than being active participants in our own lives.

It's important to find a balance, where AI can help but not completely take over our decision-making. Do you think there's a way to limit AI's influence and keep people thinking for themselves?

That's awesome! It's rare to find someone who enjoys both parts—cooking and cleaning. It must make the whole process more satisfying for you. What's your favorite dish to cook, besides curry?

What is a restaurant that a popular almost student?

Are you asking about a restaurant that's really popular among students? If so, fast food places like McDonald's, KFC, and ramen shops are usually student favorites because they're affordable and tasty. In Taiwan, places like 重生鍋 (healthy hot pot), 自助餐 (buffet-style meals), or local bento shops are also super popular with students. Do you have a go-to restaurant you like?

My friend and I go to a restaurant called Kitchen 16 Vegetarian Restaurants.

因為這次 ChatGPT 的更新，讓對話時看不到我說話時他收音有沒有正確，加上 ChatGPT 回話時，我也看不到他的回話，只能用聽的，讓我覺得有一些難度，有時候也聽不太懂他說什麼，變得好像在考聽力跟口試，有點像老師讓我們練習聽力一樣，但我覺得這樣練習好像也不錯，只是我如果發音不正確或他收音不好時，沒辦法更整，會讓回話不是我想要的。

ChatGPT

Sports?

Good question, Ivy! 😊 The right age really depends on the sport and the kid, but here's a general idea:
 • For individual sports (like swimming or tennis), kids can start around 5-7 years old. They focus on building skills and having fun at first.

• For team sports (like soccer or basketball), kids can start around 7-10 years old. At this age, they start learning teamwork and game rules while still having a lot of fun.

The key is to make sure they enjoy it. If a kid starts too young and it's all about winning, it could take the fun out of it. Some kids may be ready earlier, while others might want to wait a bit. It's good to start with something low-pressure and see how they feel!

Did you play sports when you were younger? Or maybe wish you had?

I think 7 years old is a good age for children to start playing competitive sports. Children can compete well in sports from about the age of seven.

Yeah, I totally agree! 😊 Around 7 years old is when kids really start to understand the basics of competition, teamwork, and sportsmanship. It's a perfect age for them to get into it without too much pressure. Plus, they still have a lot of fun while learning, which is key!

What kind of sports do you think are the best for kids to start with? Something with lots of action, or maybe a more calm sport to ease them in?

ChatGPT

That sounds awesome! I'd probably try doing flips in zero gravity or eat floating snacks like in the movies 😊 Have you ever watched any space movies or anime that made you want to go even more?

What attracts people most about vacationing in space?

Good question! I think what attracts people most is how different it is—like, no gravity, seeing Earth from space, and just the idea of being somewhere no one normally goes. It's like the ultimate adventure. 🚀 Also, people love posting cool stuff on social media, and space selfies would be next level! 😊 Would you want to go with friends or by yourself?

Maybe I want to go with friends or my parents.

That'd be super fun! Imagine floating around with your friends and just laughing the whole time 😊 And sharing that moment with your parents would be really special. Do your parents like adventure stuff like that?

Do you think people will go on vacation to other planets?

Maybe way in the future! Like, Mars is the first target to think. But it'd take months to travel there. 🚀
